DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the labeling of what constitutes the first and second arrangements must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: "the" should be deleted from the last line of the claim. Appropriate correction is required.
3. Claim 6 is objected to because of the following informalities: a comma is needed after "blocking elements." Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
5. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. More specifically, it is unclear whether Applicant is attempting to bring into the claim the sleeve. Examiner will interpret the claim as its subcombination; that just the handle is being claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-11 and 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Hsich (US 5848561).

Hsich discloses a sleeve handle comprising an end that is constructed for mounting different types of sleeves; a first arrangement (21) for interacting with a mounted sleeve of a first type; and a second arrangement (211,221,22,23,24) for interacting with a mounted sleeve of at least one second type; wherein the first arrangement allows to prevent rotation of the mounted sleeve of the first type, relative to the handle, and the second arrangement allows for a guided rotation of the mounted sleeve of the second type, relative to said handle.

Hsich further discloses that said first arrangement is constructed so as to interact with a complementary arrangement on the sleeve of the first type in a form-locking or frictional locking manner.

Hsich further discloses that said first arrangement comprises at least one blocking element (the groove between sidewalls 212), which is capable of interacting with a complementary blocking element on the sleeve.

Hsich further discloses that said blocking element on said first arrangement is configured as a recess or as a projection.

Hsich further discloses that said first arrangement allows for a rotation-proof fixing of the sleeve of the first type in various angular positions with respect to the handle.

Hsich further discloses that said first arrangement possesses a plurality of blocking elements, which are spaced apart in the peripheral direction of an imaginary axis of rotation of the sleeve of the first type.

Art Unit: 3677

Hsich further discloses that said second arrangement possesses a guide element in the form of at least one guide projection (22) or at least one guide groove (211), which guide element is constructed so as to interact with a complementary guide element on the sleeve of the second type.

Hsich further discloses that said guide projection is pretensioned via a spring (23) in the direction of the guide groove.

Hsich further discloses that said second arrangement permits captive but rotatable mounting of the sleeve of the second type at the end of the handle.

Hsich further discloses that said second arrangement permits captive mounting of the sleeve, both of the first and also of the second type, at the end of the handle.

Hsich further discloses that said handle possesses, at its end which is constructed for mounting of the sleeves, an aperture into which said sleeves can be introduced, and wherein the second arrangement is disposed in a region of a side wall (212) of said aperture.
